Hardesty's Wayne = Hardesty's Historical and Geographical Encyclopedia. [Wayne County version] published in 1885 page 508, Canaan township section:

Simon M. Bott enlisted in Plain township, Wayne County, Ohio, August 15, 1862, in Company E, 120th Ohio volunteer Infantry. Under Sherman he took part in the battle of Chickasaw Bayou. There are but five entrances to the land in the chain of bayous on this bank of the river, and these were in possession of the enemy, and so strongly fortified that when our troops attempted a landing they were swept by such a fire and cross fire that advance was impossible. Falling down the river with the troops on crowded transports, with poor and scanty provisions and miserable water, disease proved as formidable a foe to our soldiers as the confederate army in their well fortified position. Mr. Bott also bore a part in the battles of Arkansas Post, Thompsons Hill, Port Gibson, Champion Hills, Black River Bridge, siege of Vicksburg, siege of Jackson, Brandon. He was on the City Belle during the Red River expedition when it fell into the hands of the foe and was burned. Mr. Bott was one of the men who shoved out the plank for the men to go ashore on. At this time he lost everything except courage. His health failed, and he was sent to the hospital at New Orleans, from which place he was sent home on sick furlough, September 28, 1864. In December he again joined the regiment, but in February was again an inmate of the hospital, where he remained until transferred to the marine hospital in May, and from which place his discharge was granted, June 5, 1865. While in service he was frequently detailed to the pioneer corps, to build foot bridges, and on provost guard duty. He is a member of Authur Strong Post, No. 170, G.A.R. In Lancaster, Pennsylvania, March 27, 1833, was born Simon M. son of Henry Bott, M.D. and Martha (Musselman) Bott. In Wayne county, by Rev. John E. Carson, a Presbyterian clergyman, Simon M. Bott and Leah Feightner were made husband and wife. Mrs. Bott is the daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth (Wolf) Feightner, and was born in Wayne county, Ohio, June 2, 1836. Three children were born: Amanda Ann, November 17, 1857, now residing at Delphos, Allen county, Ohio; Clare E., July 20, 1860, now deceased, her death occurring April 28, 1881, and Rosa Jane, November 20, 1870. Mr. Bott is employed as a wagon maker at Creston, Ohio.

The Graves Registration gives his address at his death as Apple Creek. He died 27 Jan 1892 in Apple Creek. He was born in 1810[Incorrect: see above the year of his birth] in Lancaster PA.
