Denver Colorado, 1019 South 9th St, May 21st / 91

The Hon Benjamin Harrison

President of the Untied States.

Dear Sir

On the 12th day of this month I stood in the crowded street to see the vast concorse [sic] of the people pay their respects to the representative Ruler of this worlds greatest Government. I am the widow of Mathew A. Morrow. He was pensioned for disease contracted in the service of this government in the line of his duty of which disease he died. He died more than six years ago. I spent thousands of dollars of my estate nursing him, the governments viligent [sic] soldier, untill[sic] his wonderful manhood, worn to voice went out in death. Over six years ago I made my application to be placed upon the rolls as his widow, from that day to this in sickness in, trials, in losses and disapointment [sic]. I have furnished proofs looked for and wanted to get the pension that was the promise of the Government to the fighting lines of loyal men in blue, on those fearful fields of death, and in prison pens. My husband was thirteen months in prison at Tyler Texes [sic].

General you have not forgotten [sic] the private soldiers who made your command and other commands in all those grand armies. Mr. President as I seen you I did not believe you would forget his widow growing old, unable to do the labor of former years. Deceased. Absolute want [what] nerves me to address you Mr. President. Once too General of the marching and fighting men. Commander in chief of those people that you have seen from one ocean to the other. Who at your command would protect the lands over which over which you have passed from wrong and outrage. No word (but from the assured justness of your great heart would induce me) to write you. For I am only one of the millions that seen you to honor you in the long and tiresome journey.

Comes nearer to call you General I am your humble petitioner. I pray you for justice the fulfillment [sic], of the Governments promise to the widow. As well of the private soldier.

Very Respectfully

Subscribed Mrs. Jennie Morrow
