From Larry Purdy: He would have been my 3 or 4 times great uncle. His birth was Wayne Co. PA. He was actually born in a village called Purdyville, in Wayne Co PA. The village was submerged when a dam was built at the turn of the 20th century. I have paperwork somewhere with the dam name/location. The marked graves from the Purdyville cemetery were relocated to higher ground before the flooding. Reuben was very prominent in Wayne Co., PA. He was their first postmaster, as well as a commissioner. Reuben stayed in Wayne Co PA.

From Larry Purdy about the cemetery stone here in Ohio:

I finally made it to Wolf Creek Cemetery. I found the stone, however it was lying on the ground. It is one of the obelisk type stone that has the writing on two sides. The side that is facing up is for Eliza, wife of J.C. Purdy. I am pretty sure he is on the other side but it was too big for me to move it. I think they purposely laid the stone down before it fell. The base is in pretty bad shape.
